The remains of former Lithuanian Prime Minister Juozas Brazaitis Ambrazevicius, who headed a pro-Nazi government in 1941, being honored at a state ceremony in the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius yesterday. Ambrazevicius, who worked to free Lithuania from Soviet occupation, but also participated in the destruction of Lithuanian Jewry, was buried in the United States after he died there nearly 40 years ago. But in a decision that has infuriated Lithuania's remaining Jews, the government decided to rebury him in Lithuania. (Ofer Aderet)
